EMAlternatives establishes an office in Asia and appoints Director

EMAlternatives, LLC is pleased to announce the establishment of an office in Asia and the appointment of Judy Qing Ye as a Director.

In order to enhance our access and responsiveness to fund managers and source for our clients a wider variety of primary, secondary and direct investment opportunities in the Asia-Pacific region and the Indian Sub-Continent, EMAlternatives is opening in Shanghai its first office in the region.

The partners of EMA have enjoyed for over a decade a range of close relationships in Asia and India. Given the rapid growth in the number of managers in the region and the interest expressed by our clients, it is a natural next step in the development of EMAlternatives.

The Shanghai office will be headed by Judy Qing Ye. Judy brings deep and complementary expertise to the team with over 12 years of international investment and corporate experience spanning the PRC, other countries in Asia as well as the USA.

Prior to joining EMAlternatives, Judy served as Director of Strategic Investments in the Computer Services Group at Hewlett-Packard, PRC, based in Shanghai. During this time, Judy developed and executed HP's investment plans in the Computer Services Group. From 2001 to 2005, Judy was an Investment Manager in the Corporate Development section of Computing Services Group at HP, based in Palo Alto, California. Judy received her MBA in Finance and International Business from the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, an MA in International Economics from Tufts University and a BA (International Economics) from Peking University.

"We are very pleased that Judy is joining EMAlternatives to manage our Asia office. She brings tremendous investment experience, a deep understanding of the Asian markets, in particular of the PRC, and an extensive network with the local GP community" said Ernest Lambers, Managing Partner and Chief Investment Officer.

EMAlternatives is an independent private equity emerging markets specialist asset management and advisory firm providing tailored product offerings to institutional investors for exclusive coverage of the emerging private equity markets.

EMAlternatives currently operates from offices in Washington, DC, USA and Heemstede, the Netherlands.
